

KIMBLE.

Spring seems to be fully opened and people are very busy planting their gardens and preparing their lands for the present crops. This is also the time to clean up the back yards and barn lots. The health of our town depends upon that one thing which is sometimes overlooked.

The health of the town and vicinity is very good at this time.

Prof. J. W. Warren's school closed on account of the small-pox scare.

I feel that we have been wonderfully hurt by the report that small-pox was here. I have often heard of measles, roseola and chicken-pox being pronounced small-pox, but never heard of a case like Webb's being so pronounced; but we must live and learn. This patient broke out, but he never lost any time from his work, and in ten days the doctor pronounced him well. Not one of his family have taken it up to this time, and it has been twenty days. So I feel safe in saying to the public that there would be no risk in coming to our town at any time. The traveling men have almost forsaken us, and if one does chance to come, he leaves under lash. But this scare is almost over. Hoping this will be a relief to the readers of the News,

I remain as ever,

Man With Chicken Fever.

The chicken fever that gets us all sometime is contagious and needs a remedy. I would advise some kind of a tonic, such as holding on to a part of a good job. I can't make fun of any one with that fever, as I had it once myself. It was about six years ago that I was stricken, and it came in this way: "If it costs only 1 bu. of grain to keep a hen a year, I can buy corn for 15c., and if she lays 240 eggs worth 1c. each, there will be $2.25 and 1000 hens $2,250. Then I took up the broiler question, and found 1 cent eggs could be turned into 40c broilers.

I have gone through all the experience that belongs to the novice in the business and find that poultry really pays. Start in on small capital with a small flock, learn the trade and grow up with it. You will find a screw loose occasionally, but always carry a screw driver.—M. M. Johnson.

A Smooth Scamp.

Harrodsburg Democrat: We note that some of our exchanges are publishing the exploits of smooth "drummers" who are operating in their localities. A man will drive up to a country store, generally out of reach of telephone communication, represent himself as a drummer, and offer merchandise at rates astoundingly low. The order taken, a small payment of $5 or $10 on the bill is requested, and the merchant being so tickled at his "bargains," walks into the trap, and turns over the "small payment" to the smooth scamp, who accepts his victim's money and seeks other suckers. This is a very shrewd scheme and its plausibility makes it dangerous. Let merchants beware.

We publish in another column—from the Commoner, some of the doings of the last Congress. The work is known to the reading public and yet Republican farmers continue to vote the Republican ticket, Republicans, laboring men continue to defend their party and Republican business men raise no protest against what is going on. Great corporate interests furnish campaign funds, dictate platforms—make nominations and dominate administrations. To what extreme can the Republican leaders go before they provoke remembrance and repudiation?

When it comes to the matter of pensions the Grand Army of the Republic is not at all modest. A Republican Senator, who some times indulges in figures, has estimated that if all the pension legislation recommended by this organization secures the favorable action of Congress, it will require a billion dollars a year to meet the expenses. And what makes it more trying on the public pocket book, some of the "patriots," who are on the pension list never smelled gunpowder, nor even followed at the tail end of a sutler's wagon.

J. M. Evans cut a large hickory tree on his farm near Holbrook, Ky., that was sound to the ground, but about 30 or 40 feet from the ground the tree was hollow, and in the hollow was a very fine rifle gun that had the appearance of having been placed there 30 or 40 years ago. It is supposed that it was concealed there during the war, and that the person who did it, either died or was killed and failed to return to get it.

Germany has been slow in allowing increased educational advantages to women. Many German women are now studying theology. In the University of Berlin there are 371 women students where 241 only were enrolled last year. A number of leading German cities employ women as overseers of the poor. It is said that Bremen has more than forty women so engaged.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits. For sale by M. Cravens.

One Fellow With "Hoss Sense."

A Spokane (Washington) paper recently contained the following concerning an amusing experience of Mr. R. T. Daniel, the wealthy young miner, who was in this section a few weeks ago on a visit to the friends of his boyhood days:

"R. T. Daniel, of Spokane, is now interested in British Columbia mines, but once he was a cattle rancher in Washington. The pluck and enterprise he has shown in opening up the Little Joker mine belonging to the Lookout Mountain Mining Company, in which he is largely interested, is proved by the following incident of his early career:

"There were mighty few women to be seen when I was ranching in Washington years ago," he said, "but finally an old fellow with two pretty daughters settled in our district. Then the boys were all dead anxious to see them, but, as you know, the life a cowboy leads off to himself makes him feel pretty shy when there is a woman around. However, the boys would ride up to the house and ask for a drink of water or inquire about a stray heifer. But many one of them had the courage to get off his horse when the old woman asked them in, but would shy off like a scared three-year-old. Well, one day I came along and when the old woman asked me to get down I jumped right off my pony and told her straight out: 'See here, ma'am, I ain't hunting a lost steer nor a strayed pony, and I don't want a drink of water, either. I have come to see those daughters of yours.' Well, sir, that old woman, she grabbed me by the hand and yanked me into the house saying, 'Thank the Lord there's one fellow round here got some hoss sense.'"

Different Standards.

There are perhaps no two people who have the same standard of what is good, what is right, what is proper and what is exactly the correct thing in all things. No two of us are just exactly alike in tastes, manners and dispositions.

When it comes to eating, we differ there as much as in anything else. To us there is nothing better than good egg bread, properly made and cooked, used while hot with fresh butter on it; while some other editor would think us plebeian in taste and prefer fine cake and rich pastries. We might contend that his diet would ruin his digestion, while he would no doubt believe that our corn bread would cause our skin to become greasy.

The husband may be exceedingly fond of Limburger cheese which the wife cannot tolerate, while she believes there is nothing in the world that is equal to a half dozen spring onions, or if they cannot be secure, then one good sized one that has just been imported from Spain. What each eats offends the other and what both eat perhaps is unpleasant to the neighbors.

One man believes in a high collar that seems to saw off the neck of the wearer, while the other is satisfied with an abbreviated band around the neck which is his idea of the latest style. One prefers a dress of black, one of brown, another of blue, some want white, and so it is all the way through.

One believes in one mode of baptism, another in some other mode, while perhaps the third does not believe in any of the modes suggested and perhaps regards none as essential salvation. One is certain that unless we have free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 that the country will rapidly go to the devil, while the other believes that anything outside of a gold standard already lands us in the country that is hotter than this.

And it is in all the things that go to make up this life. It is right for people to have these different opinions. But at the same time it is right to remember that others have the same rights and privileges we claim for ourselves.

A Testimonial From Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be able to publish testimonials of this character. They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives restored to health and happiness by this remedy. It is for sale by M. Cravens.

The wife of Congressman Vincent Boring, of the Eleventh district, has appealed from the judgment of the Laurel circuit court in the divorce suit against her husband. Mrs. Boring was granted an absolute divorce, but was refused alimony, notwithstanding the proof that her husband has a comfortable estate. The alimony is the point that will be contested in the Appellate Court.

A Woman's Weariness.

Woman's sensitiveness make them subject to more intense weariness than men. The melancholy, depression and exhaustion they suffer is due to sluggish action of their organs, which load the system with impurities, poisons the blood and shatters their nerves.

Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron will cleanse the system, revitalize the nerves and give strength and energy, aided by agents in every town.

The California orange crop is enormous, and millions of oranges are rotting in packing houses and in the groves for lack of transportation facilities. The railroads claim that they have carried 50 per cent more than last year, and that the trouble is with the size of the crop.

Any cough is serious, enough to warrant prompt attention. It is what it may result in that makes a cough dangerous. For all slight and stubborn coughs, for gripp, lung fever, bronchitis, asthma and other throat and lung affections, you can find no other remedy so agreeable and harmless, or so promptly effective as Morley's Honey Pectoral. Price 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

Madisonville has been selected as the meeting place of the Kentucky Press Association this year. The meeting will be held in July. A trip to Pike's Peak is mapped out.

It is now time for the stockmen to advertise their stock. In our judgment the newspaper that reaches the people is the very best medium. Bills do but little towards advertising, as they are rarely ever seen but a few miles from home; their purpose in the main is to set forth terms. The News, read by 5,000 people every week, is ready to tell the story. If you have good stock, worthy and desirable advertise in this paper.

The following are the officers of the Tent of Maccabees recently organized at this place: E. G. Atkins, Commander; S. F. White, Past Commander; W. S. Barker, Lieut. Todd, Sentinel; J. W. Johnston, Picket; C. M. Ross II, Physician. The place of meeting is Isenberg Hall.

Almost Blind.

Mr. D. Kessing, Baunock, Ky., says: My little four-year-old girl's eyes were so weak from birth that she could not stand any light at all. Was treated by several physicians without benefit. My neighbors persuaded me to buy Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron from Mr. O. Daugherty, Baunock, Ky. Three bottles not only restored her sight, but made her stronger and healthier than she ever was in her life. Sold by agent in every town.

But with Wine of Cardui within her grasp, every mother—every woman in the land—can pay the debt of personal health she owes her loved ones. Do you want robust health with all its privileges and pleasures? Wine of Cardui will give it to you.

WINE OF CARDUI

strengthens the female organs and invigorates weakened functions. For every female ill or weakness it is the best medicine made. Ask your druggist for 50,000 bottles Wine of Cardui, and take no substitutes under any circumstances.

Mrs. Edwin Cane, Corner, Mich.: "When I commenced using Wine of Cardui I was hardly able to walk across the house. Two weeks after I walked half a mile and picked up my children. When my other child was born I suffered with labor pains 24 hours, and had to take her on a bottle because I had no milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy I was in labor only two hours, with but little pain, and I have plenty of milk. For fast and permanent relief in any female trouble, ask for Wine of Cardui. For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, 'The Ladies' Advertiser Department,' The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn."

The Fifty-Sixth Congress.

The record of the Fifty-sixth congress is completed, and it is not an enviable one. For extravagance it has never been equaled, and no previous congress has ever shown anything like the contempt for American principles and traditions. The republican party in 1896 promised international bimetallism and this Congress redeemed the promise by retiring the greenbacks and giving the country a large dose of the gold standard as it thought the patient was able to bear.

It has fastened a large army upon the United States—an army larger than the President would have been willing to defend during the late campaign. It has violated the solemn promise made to Cuba and demanded a supervision to Cuban affairs which amount to a denial of independence. It has conferred upon the President authority over the Philippines as unlimited, as arbitrary and as tyrannical as George III ever exercised over the colonists.

In addition to its sins of commission it has sins of omission to answer for.

It has failed to respond to the demand of the wage-earners for relief in the way of shorter hours and it has neglected to abolish government by injunction.

It has refused to give the people any relief from the extortionate railroad rates and has declined to enact anti-trust legislation, although a billion dollar trust was organized while it was in session.

It has repudiated the party's promise in regard to the inter-oceanic canal. For years the Republicans advocated the Nicaragua canal; in 1900 they substituted an endorsement of an isthmian canal, but the transcontinental railroad lines have sufficient influence with the Republican party to prevent it carrying out any canal project.

It has failed to recognize the desire of the people for election of senators by a popular vote; and it would have committed the country to the infamous ship subsidy legislation but for the filibustering resorted to by the democrats, populists and silver republicans. A fifty million dollar River and Harbor bill was also defeated by a few filibusters led by Senator Carter of Montana.

A Cruel Wife.

John Pyle, a Bowling Green photographer, has filed suit for divorce against Maggie Pyle. He seeks relief on the ground of cruelty. His wife was Miss Maggie Gaultney of near Rich Pond. They married January 18, 1900. In his petition young Mr. Pyle says his wife has been unkind and cruel to him; that she struck him to the face in public and compelled him to leave his premises. In his petition he states his wife on different occasions locked him out of the house, turned off the servants he had hired and compelled him to do his own cooking. It is further charged in the petition that she threatened to poison him and refused to live with him, and that she drove him out of the house. He also says that he is in danger of great bodily harm at her hands if he lives longer with her. Finally he asks for an absolute divorce and that his wife be restored to her maiden name, Maggie Gaultney.
